Christ the King

Christ is King of the entire universe because "in him were created all things in heaven and on earth. ... All things were created through him and for him." The Church (Pius XI, Encyclical Quas Primas) instituted this feast day in 1925 to remind an increasingly secular world that only by acknowledging our origin and end in Christ will human individuals and societies find peace, justice, freedom, and happiness. Christ is the authentic measure of all creation, including governments, states, and societies.

This is true of life in the Church as well. As St. Paul says, Christ is "the head of the body, the Church." The goal of life in the Church—the sacramental, moral, and spiritual life—is communion with the Triune God, which we realize by being drawn ever more deeply into the life of Christ. The eternal life we receive in the midst of the Church comes ultimately from Christ, and the Church connects us to Christ, "in whom we have redemption, the forgiveness of sins." In following him and allowing ourselves to be transformed by grace, we find authentic freedom.
